Notice of Republican Party Conventions

The Republican Party holds conventions every two years. In presidential election years there are four conventions: precinct, county/senate district, state, and national. Delegates at the precinct through state level conventions pass resolutions and elect delegates to the next level convention. These resolutions and delegates help shape the party platform and its direction regarding public policy. State convention delegates set the Republican Party of Texas platform and rules and elect the Texas Republican electors. Republican National Convention delegates set the Republican National Committee platform and rules and nominate the Republican candidates for President and Vice President of the United States.

To serve as a delegate or otherwise participate in a convention at any level, a person must affiliate with the Republican Party by either voting in the 2024 Republican primary or taking the required oath of affiliation. In Texas, a voter's affiliation with a party automatically expires at the end of each calendar year, which is December 31. A voter who has affiliated themselves with a party is ineligible to participate in the party affairs of another party during the same calendar year.

The 2024 Texas State Republican Convention will be held on May 23-25 at the Henry B. Gonzales Convention Center in San Antonio.
